

SOCIETY

IT IS AN ACKNOWLEDGED FACT that no fete or carnival of any sort is truly successful unless society takes an active part in it. The New Year's Carnival, the first of its kind in Honolulu, was successful because many of the most prominent people of the island visited the heart of the city and threw confetti not from their automobiles but from the sidewalks and from the "middle of the road."

Last year the only attraction for the twenty-second of February were the Floral Parade and the Maunaloa Fall. For almost everyone, however, the festivities came to a close when the decorated floats were turned homeward after the prizes were awarded. The ball in the evening could hardly have been called a triumphant success for the majority of people were unwilling to enter into the spirit of the affair and there were but few masked revellers to be seen.

The Promotion Committee and the merchants are doing all in their power to make the carnival days of the coming week attractive, not only to Honolulu but to the hundreds of tourists who have come, and who are coming to the city to witness the much advertised carnival. As many of the men interested in the Promotion Committee and in the growth of the city devote their leisure hours to social affairs it seems only just that they should take an active part in the festivities.

In many countries where sunshine smiles upon the people all the year round there is a Mardi Gras, and certain days of the year all of the residents forget themselves and mask and take part in the entertainments. This custom has been honored for centuries and is a part of the lives of the people.

Last week a Mardi Gras Ball was held in San Francisco at the Palace Hotel and while it was exclusively a social affair it was a huge success. Many social leaders well known in Honolulu, such as Mrs. Tenney Crocker, Miss Katherine Strickler, Mrs. Andrew Welch, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Walter Martin, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Clement Tavin and a hundred others participated in the affair.

"Roaring Camp," the latest notion of the festivities this year, will no doubt be very successful, but it will be even more so if the society folk will visit it in costume. Already a number of maid and matrons prominent in society have promised to wear the costumes of the women of '49 and if other parties devise costumes and visit the camp in this manner another joint may be added to its success.

Miss Violet Stoeve Entertained.
Miss Lucy Dimond chose a delightful way to fete one of the season's brides-to-be when she entertained at a silk smoking "shower" this afternoon at her home in Kaimuki. Among those present were Miss Violet Stoeve, Miss Beryl Hunter-Jones, Miss Rose Herbert, Miss Helen Spalding, Miss Sybil Robertson, Miss Pearl Littlejohn, Miss Marjorie Gilman, Miss Vivian Buckland, Miss Mary Lucas, Miss Eloise Wichman, Miss Martha McChesney, Miss Ruth McChesney, Miss Glenn Jones, Miss Maye Biven, Miss Marguerite Oreghton, Miss Dorothy Wood and the hostess.

Mrs. M. Alice Miller Feted.
Mrs. M. Alice Miller, the Most Worthy Grand Matron of the Eastern Star who has been visiting in Honolulu has, on the eve of her departure for the mainland been guest of honor at many entertainments formal and otherwise. Some of those prominent in the organization who have entertained for her recently are Mrs. Thomas Smith of Pihikoi street, who was hostess at a tea last Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Henry Williams, who gave an elaborate dinner on Sunday evening and Mrs. Clarence Crabbe, who entertained on Tuesday evening.

Miss Helen Coulter, whose picture appears above is the daughter of Mr. W. A. Coulter, the well-known marine artist of San Francisco who arrived in Honolulu this week. Miss Coulter has been here since September and has been much feted by the hostess, Miss Dorothy Guild, and by other members of the younger set. She will remain in Honolulu until her father's return to San Francisco, when she will accompany him.

A novel entertainment was that given by Mrs. Welbourne of Kaimuki who on Wednesday afternoon invited a few of Mrs. Miller's newly made friends to a "Hokunpa" for the guest of honor. This includes the giving of presents and is one of the oldest of the Hawaiian modes of entertainment. Another function in honor of Mrs. Miller was the dance at the Hawaiian Hotel last evening.

The Manoa Calling Days.
There still seems to be some confusion as to the Manoa calling days, some of the ladies having chosen the first and third Fridays and others only the first Friday of the month. There still lingers in the minds of some an impression that the calling days for that section of the city is Monday. Some time ago ladies of Manoa Valley changed their calling day from Monday to Friday and are seldom to be found at home on the former day.

Luncheon on Board the S. S. Cleveland.
A delightful luncheon was given on Thursday aboard the S. S. Cleveland by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shingle in honor of Mr. Shingle's mother, Mrs. Melvia Shingle, well known in Honolulu and her son, Mr. John Shingle, who are touring the world on the big liner. The tables were laid on the deck and the fifty or more guests who were invited to meet the guests of honor were entertained through the luncheon hour by the Cleveland stringed trio, and during the afternoon by Malini, the famous prestidigitateur. Among those present at the affair were Mrs. Melvia Shingle, Mr. John Shingle, the Princess Kawianakoa, Colonel Samuel Parker, Mr.

Garden Fete at Kapiolani Park.
The ladies of the Coast Artillery have given up private social affairs for the coming week and are doing all in their efforts to make the Garden Fete at Kapiolani Park for the benefit of the Army Relief Society the greatest social event of the carnival. Mrs. Edward J. Timberlake, who has charge of the entire affair, has met only with the kindest of feelings from the business men in town and has received their hearty co-operation.

Each of the booths is to be very attractive and those at the head of them are trying to make them so beautiful that the first event on the official program for carnival week may be considered.

Mrs. Richard Ivers' Picnic.
Mrs. Richard Ivers entertained at a picnic at her beach home last Sunday.
Mrs. Clifford B. Wood's Luncheon.
Hostess.
One of the prettiest luncheons of the week was that given by Mrs. Clifford B. Wood at the Country Club on Wednesday afternoon. The table decorations were of narcissus and ferns. After a delicious menu which was thoroughly enjoyed, the guests played bridge up to a late hour. Mrs. Wood was becomingly attired in mauve satin and real lace with picture hat to match. The weather being perfect, the ladies all appeared in new spring gowns. This was one of the most enjoyable functions given at the club this season. The invited guests were Mrs. Alfred Abo, Princess Kawianakoa, Mrs. E. Paxton Bissop, Mrs. W. R. Castle, Mrs. Walter C. Cowles, Miss Edith Cowles, Mrs. A. N. Campbell, Miss Campbell, Miss Alice Cornet, Mrs. James D. Dougherty, Miss Drake, Mrs. J. A. Gilman, Mrs. Mary Gunn, Miss Gilmore, Miss Hatch, Miss Doris Haywood, Mrs. William Haywood, Mrs.

considered the most successful. The music will be of the best and this part of the afternoon entertainment is in the hands of Mrs. W. R. Gibson of Fort Shafter. The young lady who is to give exhibitions of fancy dancing is Miss Louise McCarthy, one of Honolulu's society girls. In many of the booths young ladies not of the army set have been asked to assist and there will be a levy of pretty girls to add to the attractiveness of the occasion.

It is not often that Her Majesty Queen Liliuokalani writes autographs but as she is cordially sympathetic with the cause for which the Garden Fete is being given she has consented to do so on this occasion, and her autograph will be on sale in the Hawaiian booth. Mrs. Charles F. Childers, who will be assisted by Mrs. Kawanakoa, Mrs. A. G. M. Robertson, Mrs. H. E. Murray, Mrs. Walter Macfarlane, Mrs. E. Hons and Miss Ethel Whiting.

It is well that the ladies chose Kapiolani park as the location for the affair, for there will be such a large gathering there on Wednesday afternoon that almost any other place would be too small to accommodate the people. The plans for the affair are complete and as ladies outside the Artillery have offered their assistance, many hands will make light labor and the work will be done in a short time.

Mrs. Joseph Albert Rogers Complimented.

A clipping from one of the Salt Lake papers tells of a luncheon given in honor of Mrs. Charles W. Extron, Mrs. Joseph Rogers and Mrs. John De Witte. The following account has reached Honolulu:
"Miss Bonny Miller entertained a dozen friends yesterday afternoon at a most delightful luncheon at the Miller home to meet Mrs. Charles W. Extron, Mrs. Joseph Rogers and Mrs. John De Witte, three newcomers at Fort Douglas. The long table was decorated with a great center basket filled with gorgeous yellow Hillington roses and two tall vases of the same were at each end. Scattered lightly through the flowers were butterfly favors which added much to beautify the whole. Following the luncheon fortunes were told by a lady of mystery imported to disclose the future."

Mrs. Extron is the wife of Captain Extron, who was in Honolulu some time ago, and as Miss Rose McClellan, the daughter of General McClellan, she lived in Honolulu for two or three years. Mrs. Rogers was formerly Miss Ethel Spalding and her marriage to Lieutenant Rogers was one of the brilliant social affairs of November.

Mrs. Walter C. Cowles Entertained.
Mrs. Walter C. Cowles was the hostess of the guests of honor, Mrs. Kirby Smith, Miss Edith Cowles, Mrs. Frank Halstead, Mrs. Gerald Johnson and Mrs. Theodore Lansing. The guests included Mrs. Walter C. Cowles, Mrs. C. A. Brown, Mrs. H. F. Wichman, Mrs. R. M. Cutts, Mrs. W. P. Wooten, Mrs. A. Lackland, Mrs. Kirby Smith, Mrs. Z. K. Myers, Mrs. Frank Halstead, Mrs. F. B. Edwards, Mrs. W. C. Neville, Mrs. John Stuart Johnston, Mrs. Frederick A. Barker, Mrs. Lem Stevens, Mrs. Gerald Johnson, Mrs. Harold Pratt, Mrs. Jessie Honeyman, Mrs. A. Hocking, Miss Edith Cowles, Mrs. J. E. Sheely, Mrs. Ross Kingsbury, Mrs. C. A. S. Humphries, Mrs. Cochran, Madam Pratt and Mrs. Angus.

The Princess Kawianakoa Entertained.

The Princess Kawianakoa was hostess at a prettily appointed luncheon Tuesday at the Oahu Country Club. Yellow was used for the table decorations and the centerpiece was an attractive arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums and coreopsis. Among those present were: The Princess Kawianakoa, Mrs. Hugh White, Mrs. E. D. Tenney, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Harry Lewis, Mrs. J. F. C. Hagens, Mrs. Henry Afong, Mrs. Walter Macfarlane, Mrs. J. M. Riggs, Mrs. Roth, Mrs. Carl Widemann, Mrs. E. S. Cunha, Mrs. Sarah Parks Martin, Miss Drake, Mrs. Charles F. Chillingworth, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. A. Glass, Mrs. George Beckley, Mrs. Doris Haywood, Mrs. A. G. Hawes, Jr., Mrs. Robert Shingle, and Mrs. F. Harbut.

Miss Martha McChesney to be Entertained.

Miss Rose Herbert and Miss Helen Spalding have invitations out for an affair on the twenty-seventh in honor of Miss Martha McChesney, whose engagement to Ensign Milton Anderson was announced a short time ago. Shower for Brides-to-Be. On Friday afternoon the members of the Minute Club gave a linen shower at the home of Miss Alice Brown at Waikiki in honor of two of their members who are soon to become brides—Miss Martha McChesney and Miss Carrie McLean. The young ladies were also given dainty engagement cups ornamented with the Minute monogram. Among those present were Miss Martha McChesney, Miss Carrie McLean, Miss Juliet Atherton, Miss Violet Atherton, Miss Laura Atherton, Miss Ruth Soper, Miss Ruth McChesney, Miss Ruth Anderson, Miss Muriel Howatt, Mrs. William Hogg, Jr., Miss Marjorie Gilman, Miss Fanny Hogg, Miss Alice Hogg, Mrs. Jack Young, Miss Gertrude Brown and the hostess.

Juvenile Party.

A delightful Valentine's Eve party was given on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Harriet Evans at Palolo Hill. The tip had been sent out that all attending were expected to come in juvenile costume, and they did with a vengeance, which feature itself was the joy of the evening.

After several rounds of pedro had been played and the prizes distributed, Maudie Foster captured the prize for the ladies, delicious refreshments were served, and the evening finished up with dancing.

Among those present were Mrs. Harry Hicks, chaperon, Johnny and Lizzie Hills, Charlie, May and Pauline Merrill, Maudie, Willie and Herbert Foster, Alice and Melicent Stroup, Hattie Evans, Tommie Boyd, Leslie Hicks and Elmer Evans.

Mrs. Barker Entertained.

Mrs. Barker, the mother of Mrs. Wallace Alexander, who is visiting in Honolulu, entertained informally at luncheon on Monday for a number of friends of her daughter. Covers were laid for twelve.

Mrs. Frederick Klamp Entertained.

Mrs. Frederick Klamp entertained at a prettily appointed dinner at the Moana Hotel on Sunday evening. Covers were laid for twelve.
